There are times when the success of a football team cannot be measured by the number of wins. The 1971 Varsity Football squad won their share of the games, but their accomplishments cannot be based on the 5-2-1 record alone. If effort and spirit were the determining factors, this year's team could be considered true champions. Because of the injury to key players, there were times during the season when the boys could have given up with justifiable excuses. This never happened. The varsity players always gave their best and were unsurpassed in the courage they displayed.

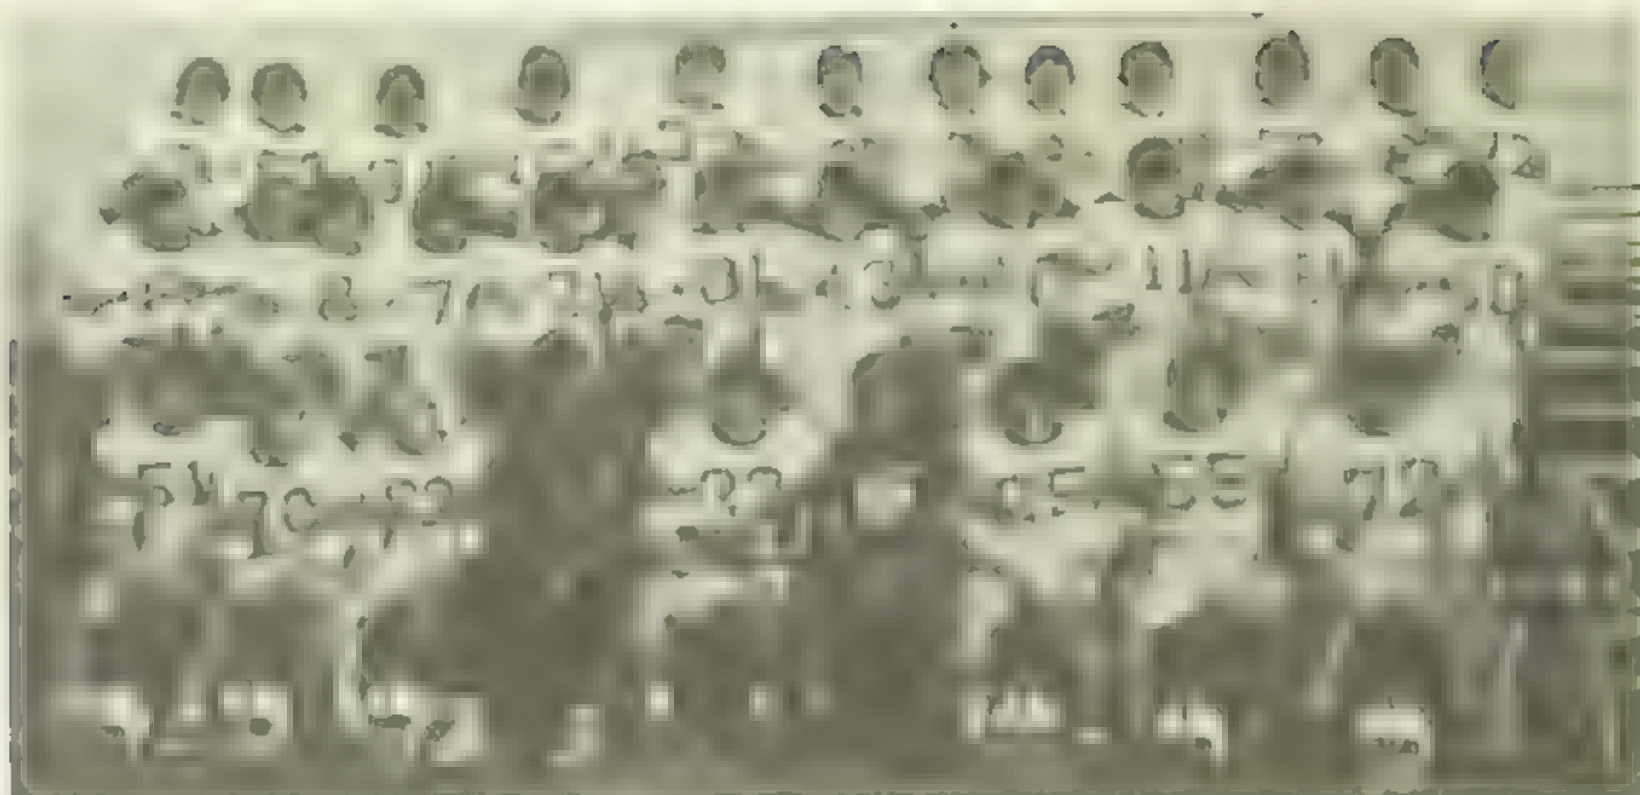

We are good old Central rooters
—come on and be a rooter too!
To cheer our team is our aim, so come on and spur on the game;
oh, we are good old Central rooters
—come on and be a rooter, too!
Come on you guys, support your team, let's show them we're behind them,
come on and be a Central Fan!

Even though this year's JV's were handicapped by inexperience, they overcame the obstacle. Persistent practice and energetic efforts helped the team tackle their disadvantage. After dropping their opener to arch-rival Oneida, the team bounced back to defeat all the other opponents. In game after game they rushed their way to victory, placing second in league action. This determination will someday make them number one.

Whatever the Freshman Football Team lacked in experience, they made up for in spirit. The team met every challenge with a great determination and put everything they had into every game they played. If the freshman players continue to display such fine playing ability, they will achieve an even greater number of wins in the years to come

Although soccer is often pushed into the background at V.V.S., it is believed to be the world's most popular game. Soccer is the original version of football and was called association football for many years. The game is played with a round ball, instead of an oval or elliptical one, and scoring is one point for each goal. No player except the goalie is allowed to use his hands to move the ball toward the opponent's goal.

The Varsity Soccer team, led by co-captains D. Wallace and G Boothroyd, kicked and butted its way to four wins this year. The games the members played were tough, especially without any support from the V.V.S. student body. Hopefully, in the next few years, the students will open their eyes and give the soccer team the recognition and support it deserves.

Diligent practice against a wall . . . smashing serve . . . near win . . . high lob . . . love . . . love . . . "home runs" . . . to have played and lost is better than to never have played at all in tennis.

Sometimes winning is not the only important aspect of a game of the girls! Field Hockey team proved it this year. Although the team was goals away from attaining the championship, the members learned to think and work as a cohesive unit. With practice and improvement, the girls are hopeful that, in future seasons, the numbers in the win column will steadily increase.

LONELINESS . . .

A LONG DISTANCE RUNNER

COACH
PAWLIKA

Cross-country is a sport which rarely attracts the attention of the student body. Running two and a half miles against the biting fall wind, being alone with no one to urge you on, plodding through ankle-deep streams—all are demands unknown to any other sport. Even though the scores may not appear optimistic this year, just being able to run a cross-country course is a victory in itself.

A division of BOCES, a Jr. High Ed. class consists of students from different schools in the area—Morrisville, Madison, Hamilton, and V.V.S. The purpose of this class is to prepare the students for future courses at the vocational school, job training, and finally, a permanent occupation. Every year, the Kennedy Foundation sponsors the Olympics which enables the mentally handicapped to compete in sporting events on the local, state, and national level. Many of the students presently in the Jr BOCES class have participated in the Olympics and won medals in many of the events. One student attended the 1970 national meet in Chicago and several students attended the 1971 state meet in Binghamton last June

MR. DELONG

In the complex structure which makes up everyday living, an individual needs every tool available to him for sound decision-making.

Our society has placed a great deal of responsibility for this process on the modern school. Within the educational structure, Guidance services provide some of the most needed tools for personal use. Decisions of an educational and vocational nature are reached as a result of the information provided. A program of assistance based on the interaction of students, parents, school, and community which help an individual recognize options and make reasonable choices is the goal of the guidance staff.

VOLUMES OF PLANS AND ACCOMPLISHMENTS

By maintaining the book collection at V.V.S., the school Librarians are able to serve both the students and teachers. Ordering and processing new books and periodicals is only one small part of the Librarians' many tasks. They must also make reading lists, assist those in search of specific information, and give library instruction. By keeping the library attractive through an up-to-date school bulletin board and new book displays, the Librarians have succeeded in adding a little more humanness to the educational system at V.V.S.

In order to earn money to sponsor a foreign child, the Jr. High Student Council started off the year with a puppy raffle. Through this and other activities, the student Council has been able to send twelve dollars a month to Chang Jae Wook, a thirteen year-old boy from Korea.

The organization also sponsors the apple machine in the junior high. Future plans to boost the treasury include an annual slave day and a dance.

JUNIOR HIGH LIBRARY CLUB

Service is the keynote of the Junior High Library Club. Its members are involved in most of the clerical jobs required to keep a school library running smoothly. Library aides are trained to assist students in locating and using print and non-print materials. They are a group of loyal, dedicated students who give freely of their time and effort in the service of their school.

BRIDGING THE GENERATION GAP

ROBERT WILLIAMS

The Student Council can be defined as a major link between the students and the administration at V.V.S. It was organized to represent the student body and attempts to listen to the ideas of every individual.

As a service organization, the Student Council offers assistance to other clubs in the school. This year the members agreed to pledge $1,000 to the Peace Corps in order to help build a school in an underdeveloped country. The money for this project will be raised through various activities such as dances and bake sales.

WINTER

And all the time, the wind is there,
A traveling flake of snow
Across a barn or through a rut
Debates if it will go.

A narrow wind complains all day
How someone treated him,
And her, and all his kind
Without her diadem.

—Emily Dickinson

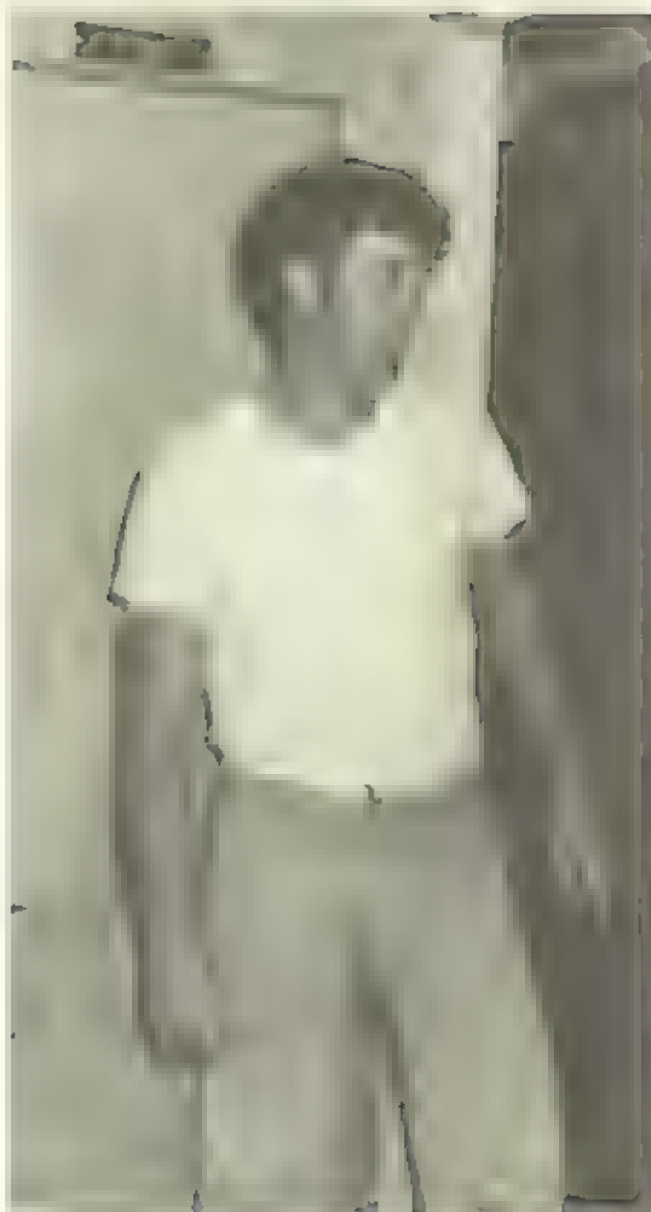

The V.V.S. Varsity Basketball team struggled to a 4-6 record mid-way through the season. In most of the games, the outcome was determined by the last frenzied minutes of the contest with the Devils ravaging the opposing team in a powerful attack for a victory. Although the players demonstrated both skill and agility, the attack was often quelled by the invading team. Hopefully the second half of the season will prove to be more successful for the Varsity Basketball team.

BOYS' J.V. BASKETBALL

The players on the J.V. Basketball team are "hooked" on clinching the Tri-Valley League title this year. With a mid-season record of eight wins, two losses, the team has a fighting chance of winning the championship. The J.V. Red Devils are led by leading scorer and playmaker Gunner Cummings. Team members Bill McLellan, Otis Fuller, Fred Gostling, and Tom Matwejc also provide outstanding scoring and rebounding support.

FROSH BASKETBALL

The first half of the basketball season has seen the freshman team achieve a 5-2 record. The teams' two losses were heartbreakers to Holland Patent in an overtime and traditional rival Oneida. The highpoints of the season occurred when the team dribbled to defeat previously unbeaten Canastota and overcame sickness and injuries to crush Cazenovia.

Mandatory practices five nights a week, the ability to play without seeking personal glory, and good sportsmanship are all demands on the players of the Girls' J.V. Basketball team. The outcome of the games has proven the success of these demands. With five wins and three losses this season, the J.V. players have rallied against all competition in a unified effort for a victory

This is the most skilled, aggressive, and determined Girls' Basketball team that has played for V.V.S. In the Tri-Valley League for the first time, playing under all rules and regulations, the varsity players have earned a record of seven wins and two losses. The team has ball handlers in the sophomore guards, height in the center, and scoring ability by all—combining to make a balanced team

WATCHING AND WAITING

SPARE ME DEFEAT

The Boys' Varsity Bowling team, holding second place in the Tri-Valley League, has proved that there is more to bowling than rolling two balls down an alley toward ten wooden pins. Bowling is an art with timing, coordination, and precision. These are all necessary requirements to be successful at the sport. Singles bowler Tom Fogg and a winning combination of John McInerney and Dave Sullivan as doubles bowlers are backed up by five-man members Mark Northrup, Jan Epperson, Bill Pagano, Tom Evans, Garry Allen, and Larry Gagen.

The Girl's Volleyball teams have fallen to the "Women's Lib Movement." Originally organized in 1953 as a boy's sport, the teams are now composed of forceful females

Volleying through the season with a fiery and aggressive spirit, they failed to secure a Tri-Valley League victory, but served and spiked their way into the hearts of the student body

After the bulls leave the pasture at Mt. Bullrun in November, the V.V.S. Ski Team makes salom poles and clears trails in anticipation of future practices and meets. Mt. Bullrun, named after three members of the team were chased by killer bulls, provides a slope for the team to practice on three times a week. Through diligent effort and hard work, the team has laid out glade and cross-country courses this year in order to prepare for the races held on Fridays and Saturdays throughout the winter.

The success of the ski team can be greatly attributed to Coach Czajkowski, who has helped the members both improve and perfect their racing skills.

The key word in Winter Track is running—outside for practice, inside for meets. Throughout the winter the team members are hurdling, broad jumping, throwing the shot put, and running in a rigid program of physical fitness. The practices are long and tiring and the competition at meets is rough, but the track team has proved to be a commendable representative of sports at V V S.

Wrestling is a competitive sport which brings every muscle into play and requires mastery of difficult holds and escapes. The Varsity wrestling team at V.V.S., led by co-captains Tim McLellan and Bruce Zophy, has had its ups and downs this season. With an overall record of five wins and six losses, the team ended the season in third place. The highlight of the season was the upset win over Oneida in which the Varsity wrestlers won five out of the first six bouts. The outlook for next year is extremely optimistic, according to Coach Little, because of the returning underclassmen and experienced J.V. wrestlers who will be moving into allocated Varsity spots.

Where can a student at V.V.S. go in order to read about school and world affairs? The Reflections Staff has seen the need for the students to become more informed and involved in what's happening around them. With this need in mind, the staff is responsible for a bulletin board which serves both as a source of information and an outlet of opinion. The bulletin board contains articles and editorials reflecting feelings about major school and world issues in an attempt to express the importance of student involvement. Because Reflections deals mainly with the ideas of the students at V.V.S. it can be said to be a mirror—a mirror of thoughts, feelings, and opinions of concerned students

DREAMS AND REALITIES

"The whole art of teaching is only the art of awakening the natural curiosity of young minds for the purpose of satisfying it afterwards."

—Anatole Frances

The members of the Future Teachers of America are concerned with the future of the teaching profession and its role in their own lives. They awaken minds by tutoring fellow students and gain invaluable experience by assisting teachers at V.V.S. While successfully performing these duties, the future teachers cultivate in themselves character, personality, and leadership—qualities essential to all good teachers.

In our complex age, successful communications is essential to survival. An individual must be able to make his meaning clear to others and understand what others are saying to him. Communications involves sending and receiving. The English teacher assists his students in "receiving" by improving their ability to read and listen.

Before an individual can become an effective, thinking expressive citizen he must know how to read and write and speak and listen. In addition to these skills a student must become a humane being, not just a human being. He needs an understanding of life and life's possibilities. Through literature a student can learn to interpret the meaning of nature and life.

DECISIONS AND DEADLINES

FEIFFER'S PEOPLE, MERRICK'S PEOPLE, VERNON'S PEOPLE

Thespians can be the biggest pain,
when rehearsals get long and you writhe in the fact you can't act.
But you'll know why you're here when the last bit of greasepaint is off your face;
when the set is struck when you realize the stage was the focus of your life
the rapture of your days—and you look out and see it stripped and bare, and during the next days you'll be remembering—oh, remembering!
and planning the next play

WALK TOGETHER, TALK TOGETHER

BETH SEYBOLD

Für zehn Wochen bin ich mit den Leuten von Deutschland spazieren gegangen und gesprochen. Ich habe sie gefunden als freundliche und stolze Leute welche in ein schönes Land wohnen getrennt bei Mauern und Soldaten. Ich kenne sie als Leute welche viele gleiche Nutzlichkeiten haben so wie die amerikanischen Leute, und nicht als Ausländer die druben wohnen übers Meer. Ich glaube man kann das Land und die Leute nicht kennen oder verstehen bis man selber da gewesen ist mit den Leuten gesprochen hat, und die Gemütsbewegungen gefühlt hat. Wenn das erreicht ist ein Teil von Dir wird immer in dem Land sein und ein Teil vom Land wird immer dicht bei Deinem Herzen sein.

For ten weeks I walked and talked with the people of West Germany. I found them to be warm, proud people who live in a beautiful country divided by wall and soldiers. I know them as people who hold many of the same values that the American people do, and not as just foreigners across the sea. I believe you cannot know or understand a country and its people until you have been there, met its citizens, and experienced its emotions. Once this is done, a part of yourself will always be in that country and a part of that country will always be close to your heart.

The American Field Service opens its doors to allow students from sixty-one countries to attend American high schools in more than two thousand eight hundred communities each year. The students remain here for one year of study and learn first-hand of many different aspects of our life-customs, ideals, interests, and problems. The AFS'ers are also able to broaden our horizons through the presentations about their own countries and daily life at home. Through the A.F.S., young citizens throughout the world are better able to appreciate and respect the similarities and differences of their neighbors in distant countries.

KIM NAKAJIMA

I am Kimiyo Nakajima from Japan. This year I learned many things from the United States, V.V.S., and you, my friends. My country, Japan, is very ancient. So there are many old customs which we still continue.

For example, the tea ceremony, which I have been learning for four years, is actually an old style of serving tea for company. Each position is done step-by-step, very slowly and carefully. Ladies and girls wear the traditional Japanese Kimono, and sit on a Tatami, or straw mat. An hour is spent serving each person.

Japan is also a very modern country in the world today. As you know, Tokyo is the biggest city in the world and is filled with cars and buildings.

In Japan, there are old style customs, clothes, buildings, and also modern things. The contrast is quite remarkable. I wish every American could learn to know Japan as I have come to know the U.S.

GILDA CASANOVA

MI país es Perú, en Sudamérica. La capital es Lima, donde están las máximas representaciones de los poderes del estado.

Su población es sobre quince millones de personas. La gente se ocupa con agricultura, pesquería, y minería, aunque hay otras industrias como la del petróleo e azúcar.

Una de las más grandes atracciones turísticas es las ruinas de Macchupicchu en Cusco. Esta ciudad es considerada la capital arqueológica de Sudamérica, por su larga existencia. Aquí floreció el Imperio Incaico.

Actualmente, desde hace tres años, Perú es gobernado por una Junta Militar de Gobierno revolucionario, el que está haciendo cambios en la vida del país y en sus relaciones diplomáticas. Solamente el paso del tiempo dirá que hizo este gobierno por el progreso de la nación.

My country is Peru, in South America. In its capital, Lima, the greatest powers of the state are found.

Peru's population is over fifteen million. The people are engaged in agriculture, fishing, and mining, although there are other industries such as petroleum and sugar.

One of the biggest tourist attractions is the Macchupicchu ruins in Cusco. This city is considered the archeological capital of South America because of its long existence. It was here that the Incan Empire flourished.

For three years, Peru has been ruled by a Revolutionary Military government which is making changes in the country's foreign and domestic relations. Only time will tell if this government has contributed to the nation's progress.

NATIONAL AND LOCAL AFFAIRS

If man avoids the holocaust of a nuclear war, it will be because he has learned to share his planet with people of many different cultures. The "new" Social Studies reflects both the diversity and similarity of those cultures.

Since it is impossible to learn everything about every culture, a careful selection must be made that best develops a more understanding person. In recent years, the word "culture" has replaced "history" and "concept" has replaced "fact". However, both history and fact are necessary if we are to interpret the past and present in order to shape a better future.

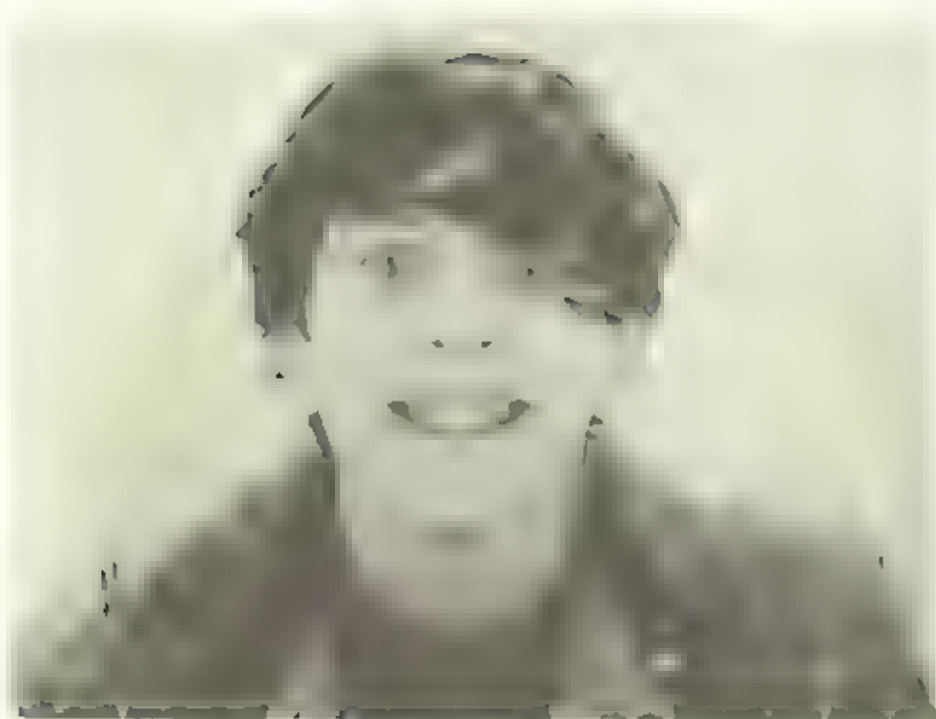

To avoid the alienation so typical of today we must see where we have come from in order to determine where we should go. The scientist has presented us with a choice; it is up to mankind to make the decision.

Key Club and its adult counterpart, Kiwanis Club, parallel each other in serving the school and community. This year, Key Club is placing special emphasis on law and order, the environmental problem, and the treatment of prisoners of war. By special projects and programs, the Key Club will hopefully assist in the first step in problem solving: making others aware.

SCHOLARSHIP, LEADERSHIP, AND ACHIEVEMENT

Boys' and Girls' State, sponsored by the American Legion, are citizenship training programs designed to educate youth in the principles of democracy through active participation in government.

During the week-long session in June, the selected students are organized into two political parties and form party platforms. Nominations are held within each party for county, city, and state officials. The delegates actively campaign for the nominees and follow the structure of American government.

To be considered for the Boys' and Girls' State program a student must first meet the geographic location and scholastic requirements. In addition, the four criteria for a delegate are leadership, patriotism, scholarship, and sportsmanship.

In spite of a full regalia of red robes and its do-nothing reputation, membership in the National Honor Society is considered an honor by the conscientious student. High grades are not the only criteria for membership. Important, too, are integrity and leadership which imply the ability to relate well to others. Members are often involved in clubs and activities, because like their fellow students, they are interested in the betterment of school and community. For N.H.S. members, the endless hours of study have finally paid off.

The Spanish Club at V.S.

offers proof that learning can be fun. Members gain a better understanding of our Latin neighbors and proficiency in the language by conducting meetings in Spanish. This year's goal is a trip to Puerto Rico and the club members are busy planning money-making activities to turn a dream into a reality. "Buena suerte!"

Fun with French is this club's main theme. Games such as "L'Echafaud" and "Hangman" in French contribute to the old world atmosphere of the meetings. Both bake sales and candied apple sales are conducted to raise money for Christmas and year-end parties. The future promises bigger and better things as this year's membership includes many seventh grade students

The language of a people reveals not merely WHAT the people thinks but HOW it thinks; and so the study of language is the study of life, and the study of life is the study of truth.

—Francis Ball

To really know a language, the student must be aware of its culture. The Latin Club considers Roman history and people an important part of the organization. For this reason, newly-initiated members wear the snow-white togas of the senators. The club provides both a social and educational atmosphere in which a member can have fun and gain a greater understanding of the language and culture at the same time.

VENTURES INTO THE BUSINESS WORLD

A student asks to what end or for what purpose he is learning material in a certain course. The Business Department can answer that it is practical and applicable.

The subjects taught in the Business Department have functional purposes. Business activities affect the life of everyone in helping people to be better able to understand and meet problems they will face. It may be by keeping records to be checked by income tax authorities, balancing expenditures against income, or contributing to social security or other pension plans. The businessman may buy a home, invest in business enterprises, or deal with banks, merchants, utility companies and those with whom he works.

In addition, subjects taken in the Business Department help a student discover whether or not he has an interest in and aptitude for a business occupation. In many instances, sufficient training is given to enable the student to readily gain employment in at least an entry level business job. To these ends it can be said that the Business Department prepares students for life.

All over the world—in universities, secondary schools, and elementary schools—there is a revolution in the teaching of arithmetic and mathematics.

Two words appear to be the rallying cry of this revolution, "discovery and new". One signifies the method used by the revolutionists, the other the content.

The word "new" describes the content of mathematics. The changes in secondary mathematics reflect "new" symbols, and "new" topics such as topology, numbers to other bases, computer arithmetic, and intuitive geometry.

It is not enough for a teacher to introduce new topics without using a better method for teaching than rote response. It is also not enough for a teacher to use the discovery method without giving the students new topics to explore.

Contemporary viewers of Mathematics tend to write it off as a milk-and-cookie put-on confined to an elect group of egocentric math students. In actuality, disqualifying tests are administered to any math student wishing to participate. The selected group of five students, composed of one freshman, one sophomore, one junior, and two seniors, go into competition against other schools. Each team member competes on his own math level, and the team competes as a whole.

Probing into the intangible and the imaginary, and just plane fun are only several of the many factors that the Math Club may choose in its quest for mathematical panacea.

The vistas of science are overwhelming. What items are used today that are not the result or application of a scientific discovery? Scientific discovery has given us Teflon cookware, balanced food rations for our pets, exfoliants, bonded knits, and amphibian vehicles.

Science today encompasses fields of study little known twenty years ago—agronomy, virology, astrophysics, ecology.

In a science course, the teacher attempts to encourage an awareness, appreciation, and understanding of these vistas waiting to be investigated

JR. HIGH SCIENCE CLUB

Purpose: To offer interested students an opportunity to understand advanced concepts in science and to acquire a critical, scientific mind

Materials: a group of spirited intelligent students, an enthusiastic advisor and a program that informs and enriches

Procedure: Place the above materials in a fertile atmosphere where ideas can incubate and bloom. Provide warmth from personal relations and the light of knowledge

Conclusion: Students who are exposed to such an environment will grow in the knowledge of the concepts of science, their awareness of the world around them and man's position in the dynamic equilibrium.

ALL YOU NEED IS LOVE

The goals of the school nurses are to help students achieve the greatest possible degree of health—physical, mental, social, and emotional—in order to provide these students with a foundation on which to build a happy and useful life. This would assure that each would gradually be able to assume increased responsibilities for his own health, the health of his family and that of his community.

One of the major goals of the Health Department is to arouse an appreciation of good health—man's most precious possession. The health course offered to the student at VVS helps him to recognize the physical, emotional, mental, and social facets of his personality. Most important, the course is student-centered and concept-oriented. It stresses principles adaptable to modern living—accepting oneself, developing an awareness of environmental responsibilities, and associating harmoniously with others.

Chefs' Club is open to interested boys in the seventh and eighth grades. The junior chefs meet every other week in the home economics room with the purpose of becoming more familiar with the kitchen and its utensils. In order to develop basic skills in both cooking and baking, the club begins by whipping up simple recipes such as chocolate chip cookies. With a pinch of experience, the boys progress to more difficult recipes including such delectable delights as deep-fried doughnuts. After a little seasoning in the world of cooking, the chefs prepare dinners complete with meat, salad, potatoes, and dessert

The home economics department is concerned with all aspects of family life from the formation of the family, its growth and development as a unit to the emotional and physical development of each individual member of the family. The study of home economics is an attempt to encourage the individual to know himself, his feelings, attitudes, emotions, to understand these feelings in others and to guide and nurture the young child

In an age of constant change, individuals need the stability and serenity which can only be provided when the home and family are strong. It is here in the basic unit upon which our society is built that a personal philosophy of life or personal ideals and values have their birth

Today's agriculture is continually changing from a way of life to a highly technical business. Farmers, as individuals, can no longer meet the need of processed food products demanded by the consumer. For every farmer there are eight other employed people, helping him produce and market his product.

The student in vocational agriculture is learning about the changing role of the farmer in this world of agriculture. He is also learning skills that will make him a better employee of our nation's largest industry.

The V.V.S. Future Farmers of America is only one of the eight thousand chapters across the nation. By belonging to F.F.A., vocational agriculture students are given a chance to develop desired qualities of leadership, cooperation, and citizenship. The goal of this organization is to improve both the student's knowledge of agriculture and his ability to work efficiently in that vocation.

Throughout the year, F.F.A. plans and carries out various activities. These activities deal with different aspects of the community, public relations, and recreation. The money raised by the V.V.S. chapter enables its members to attend state and national conventions, state camp, and national leadership conferences.

Industrial Arts, as a part of the general education program, can provide profitable and valuable experience to all students. It can become an important adjunct to scientific research and experimentation. There is opportunity within its bounds to create positive, three dimensional illustrations pertinent to social studies and humanities.

Industrial Arts has many things to offer to the student planning further study in college. However, it has much more to offer the student who will someday become a part of the country's work force.

If this is the age of humanities why does the importance of the individual continue to diminish? Today's teacher in the Arts must be a humanist, able to guide the student along the path of self-expression. He must encourage good work without stifling creativity and recognize the importance of new ideas. The Art teacher must also be able to evaluate—not the masses but the individual for independent thinking is rapidly becoming an important aspect of art. Only by being a humanist can a teacher in the arts be truly effective

One of the newest additions to the Junior High scene is the Paint 'n' Putter Club. The members of this group discover means of self expression through creativity in art. A variety of media and techniques are explored with a major investigation this year being copper enameling

Working with hands and hearts they develop and direct their energies with individual and group activities, including a spring exhibit and art-crafts sale

Movement is the one common denominator between all living things. Without movement, there is no life.

Efficient movement is learned, the same as anything else. Within the school, the Physical Education class is the one class devoted to specific instruction in efficient and purposeful gross body movement.

Hopefully, the student in Physical Education becomes a caring, expressing, knowledgeable, living, moving, individual, able to gain meaning and satisfaction from a mobile, sports-minded society.

Essentially a school service organization, the Varsity Club provides lettermen with an opportunity to build a better sports program at V.V.S. Through their money-raising projects such as selling refreshments at games and sponsoring an annual faculty basketball game, the members add to the school athletic environment. The yearly trip to New York City is only one important aspect of their many activities in which they continue to become involved in sports not only at V.V.S. but also on a nation-wide basis.

CAPTAIN DAN URTZ

The (almost) unbeatable V.V.S. golfers teed their way to a 13-1 season and the championship spot in the Tri-Valley League. Skill and determination drove them on to second place in the Section III finals.

Team member Scott Peters won the Section III individual honors and finished fifth in state-wide competition.

"Swinger" Coach Adams continues the legacy of coaching begun by Mr. Robert DeLong nineteen years ago.

B.O.C.E.S.

The B.O.C.E.S. Occupational Education Center offers a variety of courses for the general, disadvantaged, and handicapped students. The aim of the courses, which include Licensed Practical Nursing, Health Services, Cosmetology, Child Care and Food Services, is to provide classroom instruction and practical experience for the students.

Those enrolled in the B.O.C.E.S. program receive instruction in theory and skills in preparation for jobs in occupational fields. Each course places a strong emphasis on developing the attitudes necessary to achieve success in future employment. Development of safe work habits, ability to get along with others, and appreciation of good craftsmanship are considered important goals for all students taking part in this program.

VARSDTY BASEBALL

This year the Varsity Baseball Team walked away with 7 wins and 11 losses in Tri-Valley League action. Slugger Tom Merklng led the team with an impressive batting average of .491. Buzz Cmaylo hustled to top the team in homeruns and runs batted in. Skill and spirit combined to spark the team to a relatively successful season.

Row 1: D. Caulfield, S. Wright, J. Graves, B. Walizewski Row 2 D. Storms, C. Wuest, M. Collins, S. Muth Row 3 M. Barron, L. Clark, Coach Cole G. Vee

The first girls' softball team at V.V.S. was organized in 1959. Since then, the team has batted and bunted their way to near fame. Unfortunately, this was not one of their better years.

Leslie Clark was top thief, stealing 29 bases, and Sue Wright slugged her way to stardom with 18 R.B.I.'s. Donna "Lefty" Storms was voted most valuable with Leslie Clark most improved.

The J.V. Baseball team was really ticking this year. Although the sluggers posted a mediocre Tri-Valley League record of eight wins, six losses, they managed to beat every team except Camden at least once. When up against a previously undefeated Chittenango team, the V.V.S. players doubled their energy and determination and came out ahead.

VARSITY TRACK

Row 1: B Zophy, F. This was the year for breaking school track records. Through the combined efforts of several team members the one mile and two mile relay records were broken. Fred Wall dashed another record for the long jump, while Jeff Webb was busy making a new time for the hurdles run. The team ended the season with three wins, one tie, and only two losses.

COURAGE AND CONVICTION

DR. ANDREW ROSSETTI

The class of '72 has elected discovery as its personal challenge. This challenge deals with where you are going and how best to get there. In reality this is what life is all about. Life's key ingredients are determination and direction. When an individual is determined, he will discover where he is going and how he will get there. He will discover what cannot stop him. Cripple an individual and you have a Sir Walter Scott, bury him in the snows of winter encampment and you have a George Washington, have him born in poverty and you have an Abraham Lincoln, afflict him with choking asthma and you have a Theodore Roosevelt, bury him in grease at a locomotive roundhouse and you have a Walter Chrysler, make him a second fiddle in an unknown orchestra and you have a Toscanini.

We hope that V.V.S. has contributed to each class member's determination thereby enhancing his opportunity to discover where he is going and how best to get there. My personal best wishes to the Class of '72.

WITH A LITTLE HELP FROM OUR FRIENDS

SENIOR OFFICERS— K. Russell, G. Vies, K. Klein, F. Green

As advisor to the class of '72 Mr. George Roehm has been an invaluable help. Through his ingenious creations and original ideas the Football Dance and Junior Prom were tremendous successes. Mr. Roehm attended countless meetings before the dances and offered both advice and assistance. For weeks he had to endure our interruptions during physics classes while we painted strawberries or made tissue paper flowers in the back of the room. Our strawberry tree and homemade fountain, complete with green water, would not have been possible without Mr. Roehm's mathematical mind.

Author William Smith once wrote, "No friendship can survive the gift of gold. The generous can indeed forget that they have given, but the grateful can never forget that they have received." The graduating class has received so much and will never forget the generosity of Mr. Roehm. A simple "thank you" doesn't seem sufficient but those are the only words we have to express our gratitude. Thank you.

Advice to Travelers

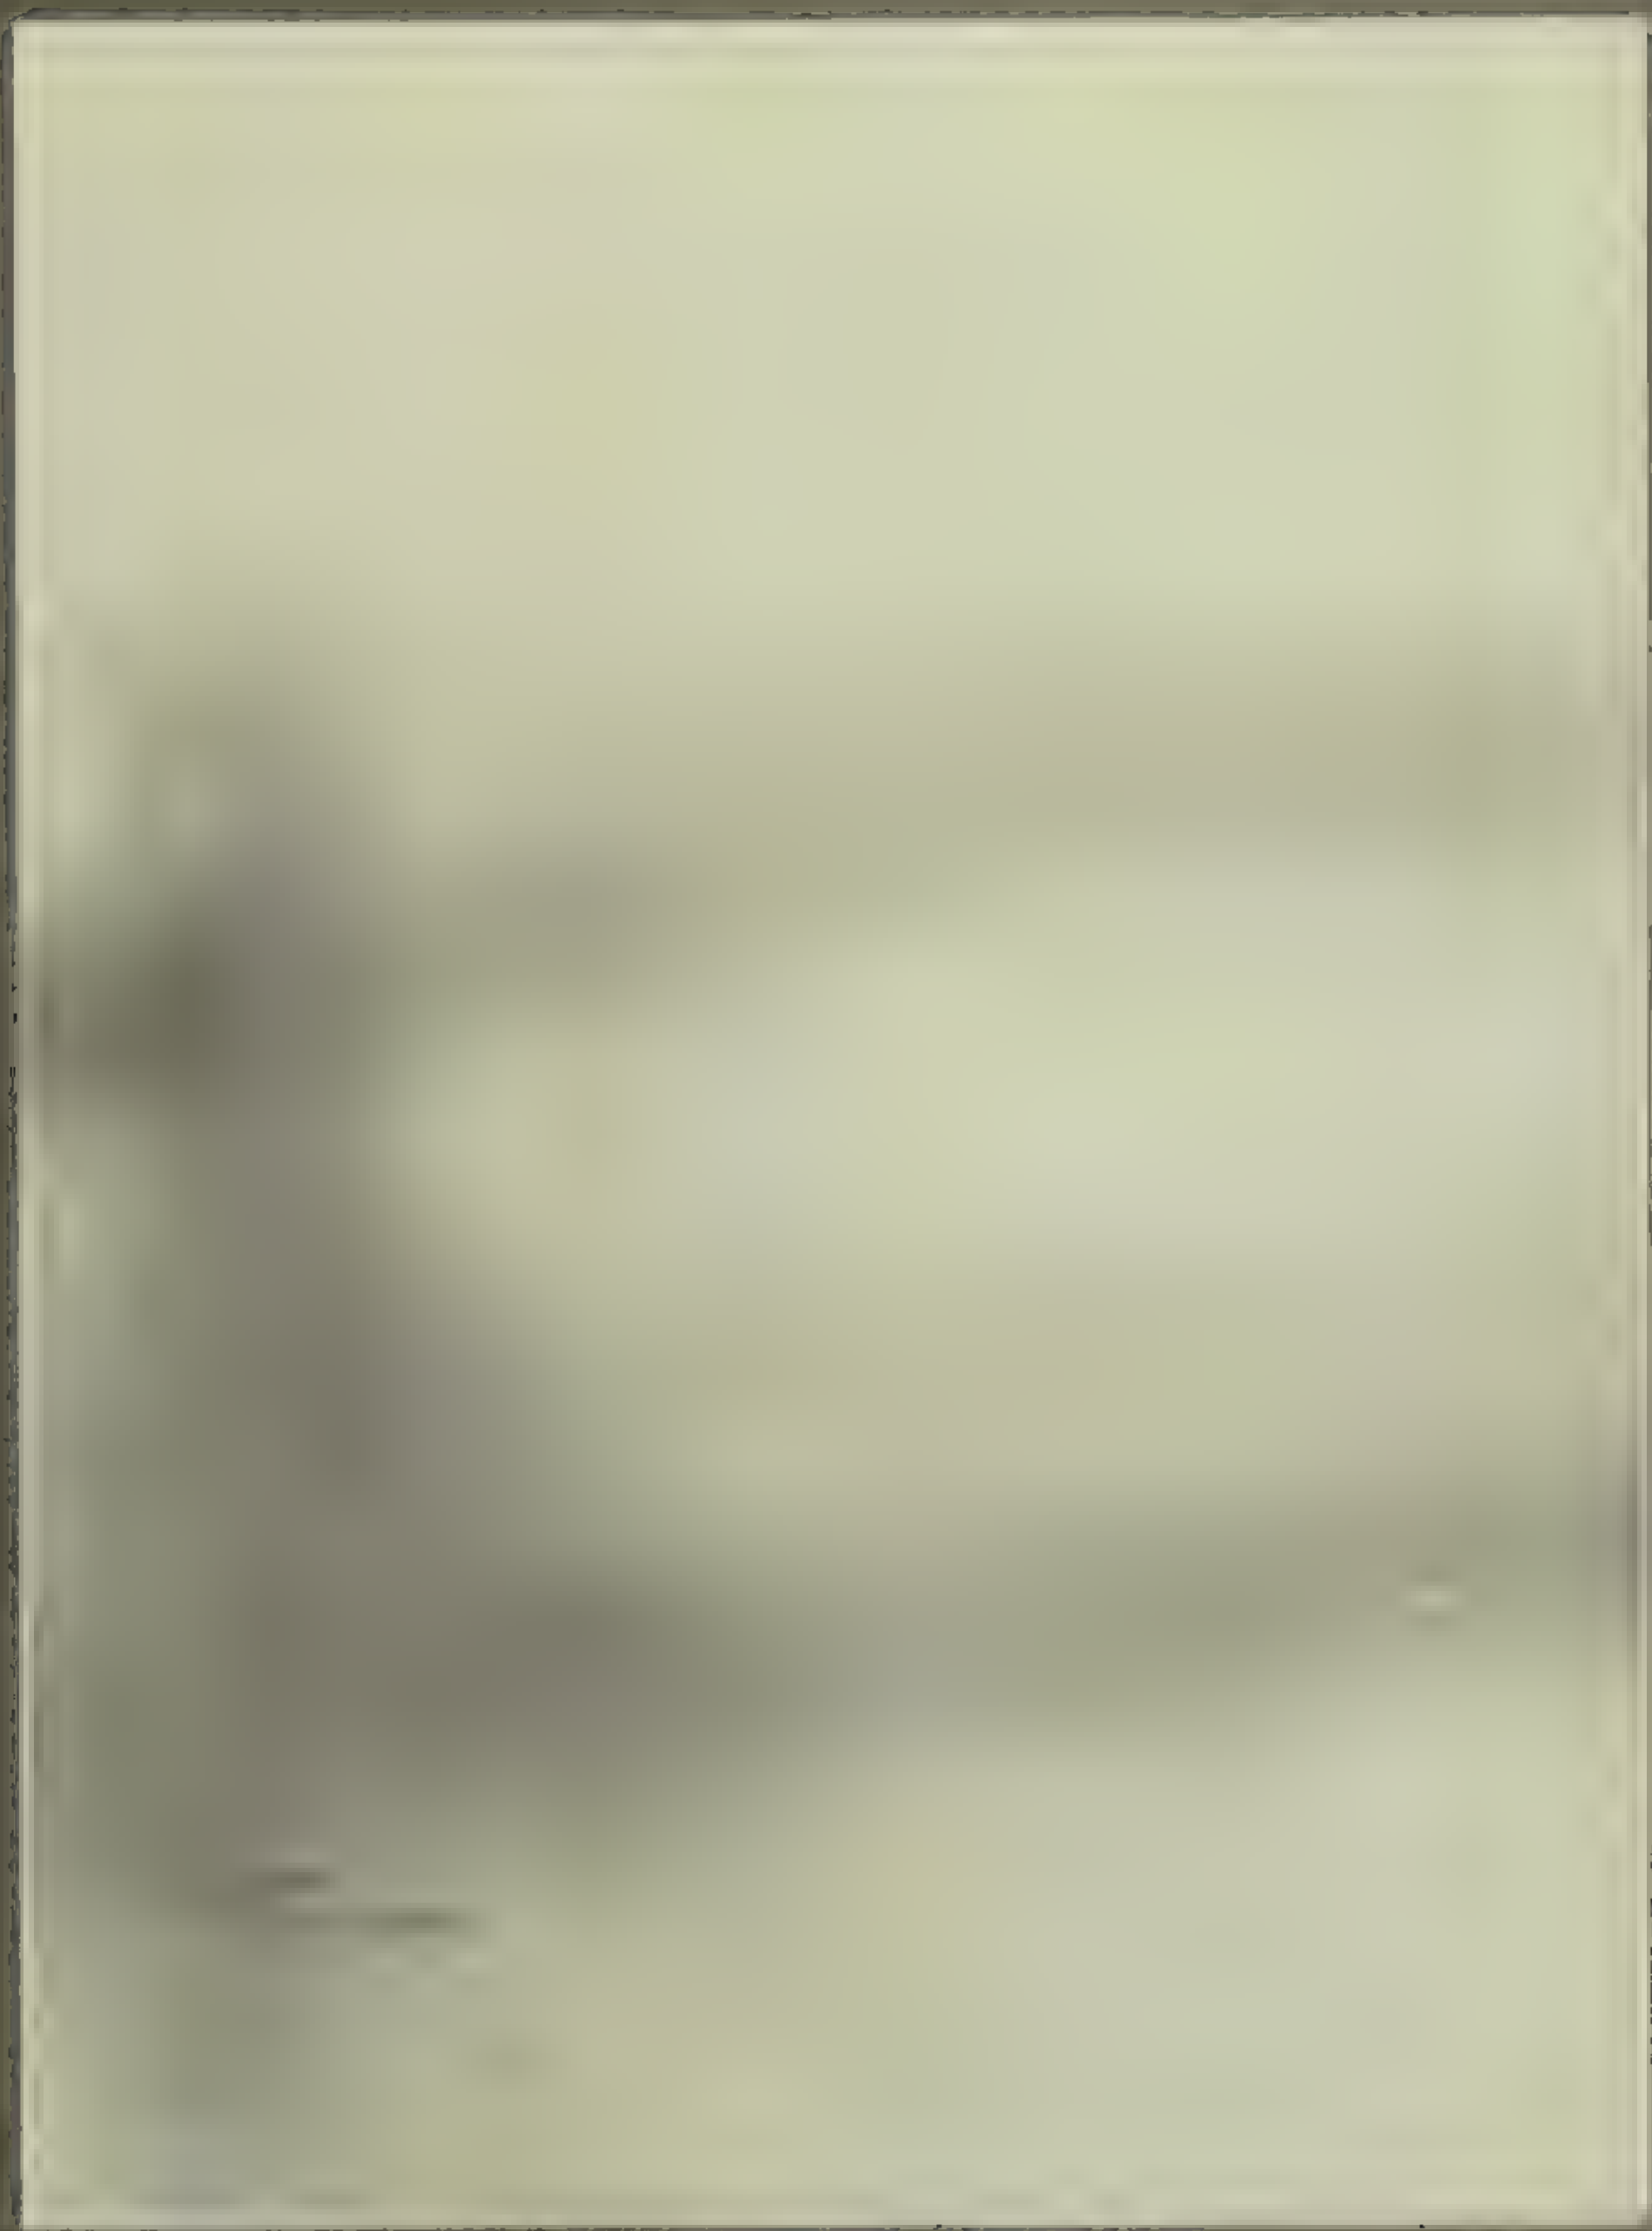

—Walker Gibson

A burro once, sent by express,
His shipping ticket on his bridle,
Ate up his name and his address,
And in some warehouse, standing die.

He waited till he liked to died
The moral hardly needs the showing
Don't keep things locked up deep inside—Say who you are and where you're going.

Some things you decide with your heart
